THE HAWAIIAN CABLE-FOOLISH LEGIS-LATION-PERSONAL AND DRAMATIC. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

San Francisco, Feb. 23.-The failure of Congress to make an appropriation for a Hawaiian cable is ascribed here to the injudicious tactics of the local merchants who formed a private cable company. These men have no real intention of building a line to Honolulu. In fact, they organized a corporation for the express purpose of getting a Government subsidy, but the Cleveland Administration, that felt compelled to do something to break the force of its blunders in Hawaii and that was prepared to agree to an appropriation, seized upon this San Francisco corporation as convenient excuse, and thus denied Government aid to the cable project. It may be that this mistake may be remedied by the next Congress, but there will never be an American cable to Hawali if San Francisco merchants are counted on to build it.

The big deal by which 19,000,000 gallons of California wine was contracted for this week has greatly encouraged all vineyardists, and many are mourning over their baste in selling last season's crop at very low prices. The new association proposes not only to market wine without paying large profits to middlemen, but to insist upon good quality of the product. California wine has been seriously hurt by the carelessness of many grapegrowers, who pay little attention to the condition of the grapes which they send to the winery. In France every decayed or sun dried berry is clipped off with scissors, but here everything is dumped into the crusher. It looks now as though no California vineyardist will have to sell his wine at a lower price than 15 cents a gallon, which leaves a very fair margin of profit

The butcher-cart robbery in New-York years ago was recalled this week by the bold looting of diamonds in a pawnbroker's window by a thief who escaped on horseback. With the aid of a small boy he locked the clerks in the store, smashed the show-window, seized the diamonds and escaped, though it was about the theatre hour and Grant-ave, was crowded. Only one man tried to stop the thief, and his energy subsided when a bullet grazed his leg. Many of the highway robberies that have been frequent lately are ascribed to the unemployed, of whom there are 15,000 in the city. The greater part of these idle men are eager to work, but there is a small percentage of criminals who have given the police great trouble. The churches and the public schools are doing much to relieve distress among families of the unemployed. The school children are working through the Salvation Army, which knows where poverty pinches worst.

The lower house of the State Legislature appears determined to show how foolish a body of lawmakers may be. Last week it passed the bill lawmakers may be. Last week it passed the bill granting suffrage to women, though the Constitution distinctly prohibits it. This week it has passed a bill actually prohibiting the manufacture or sale of cigarettes, and another deciaring against the wearing of high hats at theatres. Meanwhile important public measures have been so grossly neglected that the session will have to be prolonged into March. One measure which has excited great opposition is the proposition to establish a Central Board of Charities and Correction which will have charge of a score of institutions, with powers similar to those of the New-York Commission in Lunacy. The administration of these institutions is now very costly, although the Trustees draw no regular salary. although the Trustees draw no regular salary. At the funeral services of Mrs. A. E. Davis, wife of a well-known railroad man, long the associate of the late Senator Fair, the unusual spectacle was presented of a woman conducting the exercises. Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper, founder of the San Francisco kindergartens, delivered an address and read the burial services, according to a last request of the dead. The services were simple but impressive. Mrs. Cooper paid an elequent tribute to the woman who had added her for years in her charitable work.

The Galety troupe made a hit at the Baldwin, the comedians Kaye and Monkhouse being special favorites. At the California W. Greer Harrison's new drama, "Runnymede," gained what the French call "a success of esteem," but the play will never be able to hold the boards, even with such good actors as Warde and James.

The orange-growers of Highlands, in San Bar-The orange-growers of Highlands, in San Bar-nardino County, propose this year to advertise their fruit in a novel fashion. They will said boxes of choicest navel oranges to Mr. Gladstone and President Cleveland and to 180 prominent rallroad and steamship men. Highlands has been recently developed, but it already has some of the finest country homes and most beautiful orange groves in Southern California.

According to the figures of the cotton statisticians, brought up to date, the total amount of cotton that has appeared on this crop is 8,350,835 bales. There came into sight this week 102,595 bales. The thirtyone interior counted towns received for the we ending Friday night 58.119 bales, shipped 77.637 bales and the interior stock is now 422,762 bales, against 361,821 last year. "The Financial Chronicle" reports "snow in many sections of Texas, and as a conse Here are two views about cotton, one bullish and the other bearish. Atwood Violett & Co. say

Information continues to pour in of proposed reduction in acreage the coming year. Our New-Orrleans dispatch states that a reliable party has canvassed Mississippi, and estimates reduction in that State will be fully 25 per cent, at the same time corroborating the fact that farm work is very back-

ation:

The temper of the market here continues extremely bearish, based upon the idea that the movement will increase sharply after the weather becomes more moderate, and the trade generally looks for lower prices. In Liverpool there is rather a better feeling, due to an increased demand from India for goods and the fact that the English spinners are of the same opinion that the cotton trade hold, namely, that receipts will increase, and therefore they are selling their yarns without securing their holdings of cotton. Reports of a decrease in the acreage are being received, though not accepted with the credit which they deserve, as the trade considers the season has been so backward that the ability to plant other crops has been interfeed with.

TO PUSH THROUGH THEIR WORK.

George C. Flint Company, cabinet-makers, of West Twenty-third-st., have the contract for the wood-work on the new building of the Presbyterian Home Mission. Their employes were forced to quit work of account of the electricians' strike. The Flint Company have decided to run their factory to its fullest capacity in order to give work to as many men as it will accommodate till they can again employ the men finishing the work on the new building. The samples of furniture made will be disposed of at their warerooms, No. 43 West Twenty-third-st., at absolute cost of production.

Candles burning on the reading-desk in the Hebrew Synagogue Moyoxa Sholem, at No. 42 Suffolkst., Friday night, set fire to the deskcloth, and had it not been for the assistance of some young men who were passing in the streets, the building would probably have been destroyed, with two watchmen asleep The colossal figure of Progress, which will surmount the dome of the City Hall, has been modelled by Marion Weils, the sculptor, and will soon be cast. It is 22½ feet high, and represents a winged female figure holding aloft a torch. At night this torch will be brilliantly illuminated, and as the statue is over 300 feet above the

In Chicago, Mil-wankee and St. Louis she has played to large and enthusias le audiences. Her final engagement for this season will begin at the Hoston Museum on March 18, where she will gremain for three weeks and then close her American tour and sail for Loudon, to open on or about May 1. That she will re-turn next season is almost certain.

LADIES' DAY AT THE CATHOLIC CLUB.

"Ladies' Day" at the Catholic Club is always recognized as one of the great social functions of the season in the Catholic community of New-York. The brilliancy of the assemblage and the display of elaborate costumes and gowns seen in the hands mely appointed club in West Fifty-ninth-st. fully proved this. No fewer than 1,30) women responded to the invitations sent out, and consequently at times the crush was uncomfortably great. The large entrance hall and the principal rooms were tastefully decorated with foliage plants and profusions of flowers. The ladies were received by specially appointed committee, consisting of John G. O'Keefe, chairman; William T. Ryan, Thomas F. Murtha, John T. Martin and Charles F. Walters, F. Murtha, John T. Martin and Charles F. Walters, while the following were assiduous in attending to the wants of the guests during the afternoon:
